Lynch Joins ProMutual Group as Controller

Boston, MA (June 28, 2010) – ProMutual Group, a leading provider of medical professional liability insurance, has named Mark W. Lynch as its new controller in the Corporate Finance Department. Lynch will be responsible for the financial reporting of all ProMutual Group companies. Additional duties include federal and state tax filings, treasury management, external and internal audit coordination as well as rating agency communication.

“Mark has a proven record of working with senior management to execute strategic financial projects involving complex components and interdepartmental needs,” said Richard G. Hayes, vice president and chief financial officer for ProMutual Group. “We look forward to having him on our team and working with him to foster the company’s continued financial strength, integrity and overall excellence.”

Prior to joining ProMutual Group, Lynch performed a variety of roles at MiddleOak, a property casualty insurer, where he began his career in 1984 as an accountant. He moved from this position to senior accountant, assistant treasurer, vice president and treasurer. In these positions, Lynch collaborated with senior management to implement substantial organizational change and attain profitable results.

“I am proud to be at a high caliber company like ProMutual Group,” said Lynch. “I am eager to put my previous experience to valuable use in this new position and contribute to the positive momentum this company has demonstrated over the past several years.”

A resident of Essex, Mass., Lynch received a bachelor’s degree in business and economics from Gordon College in Wenham, Mass., as well as a master’s in business administration from Salem State College of Salem, Mass. He is president of the CPCU Boston Chapter and a member of the Property and Casualty Initiative Investment Committee. Additionally, Lynch was elected for two consecutive terms to the Board of Selectmen for the Town of Essex, Mass., beginning in 2004.
