Diane McKenna Promoted to ProMutual Group's Director of Physician Education

Boston, MA (April 12, 2010) – ProMutual Group, a leading provider of medical professional liability insurance, recently promoted Diane McKenna to director of physician education. McKenna will be overseeing the company's educational services and programs following the recent retirement of Maureen Mondor.

"We have been fortunate to have had Diane with us for many years, and equally so that she was eager to take on this position," said Gregg L. Hanson, chief operating officer for ProMutual Group. "The legacy of ProMutual Group's long-standing dedication to promoting patient safety through physician education will continue with our new director. We look forward to Diane developing our physician education program further and implementing timely and relevant resources for our policyholders."

McKenna has been with ProMutual Group since 2002 and served in the roles of facilities supervisor and document information manager. Prior to this time, McKenna worked as project manager at Corporate Psychology Resource and as marketing director for its sister company, The Computer Psychologist. Also since 2002, McKenna has assisted in the management of Absolute Health Chiropractic, a business she co-owns with her husband.

"I'm looking forward to this new challenge within an organization I already know so well," said McKenna. "During my time with ProMutual Group, I have seen the incredible work it does and I believe in its ability to make a positive impact in the practice of medicine and in patient safety. Physician education is a critical component of achieving these goals and I'm excited to have the opportunity to contribute to that."

A resident of Wrentham, Mass., McKenna received a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst and is pursuing a master's in business administration from Northeastern University. McKenna was recently invited into the Beta Gamma Sigma organization, an international honor society for business students. She is also active with Big Brother Big Sister of Massachusetts Bay and was a finalist for "Big of the Year" in 2007.
